

The WABA Educational Webinar Series Presents

Back to School: Ethical Supervision of ABA Practitioners in Public Schools

Lauren Yoho, M.Ed., LBA, BCBA

When: Thursday, September 12th
7:00-8:30pm PST

Where: Online (Zoom link available after registration)

Cost: Free to WABA members (see Promo Code through WABA email blasts), $15 for nonmembers

CEUs: 1.0 Supervision, 0.5 Ethics (1.5 Total) CEUs on BehaviorLive!
Please create a BehaviorLive profile prior to registration.

About the Talk: Join a panel of peers in a facilitated discussion about the ethical challenges that arise from real life scenarios when providing supervision of ABA practitioners in schools. Consider together the unique dynamics of professional roles, obligations, and relationships experienced by ABA practitioners in the public-school setting. Participants will have opportunities to engage in meaningful discussion of each scenario, in addition to the opportunity to submit scenario topics ahead of this event.

About Lauren Yoho: Lauren Yoho is a behavior program specialist for Seattle Public Schools and works closely with the ABA agencies contracted to provide services at SPS. She is a BCBA herself and loves the wild ride of working in the school setting the most. She has walked alongside her contracted ABA colleagues doing absolutely life changing work in public schools and faced devastating challenges together as well. When she isn't at work, Lauren is usually playing trains with her toddler, taking cute selfies with her baby, or trying to finish a conversation with her wife.

To register, go to our Registration Link on BehaviorLive